One day a red cat was all alone.

She decided to find her family. First, she went to the hot desert.
On the yellow sand,
she saw a purple cat.
She told the purple cat
that she is finding her family but the purple cat
did not know where they were.
The purple cat wanted to help the red cat find her family. They both went to the city to find her family. In the city they found a green cat and a blue cat.

The city was very loud! The red cat shout "Do you know where my family is?" The blue cat and the green cat did not know where her family was but they wanted to help. They all went to the forest and saw an orange cat and a yellow cat playing in the green grass. The red cat said

"We are trying to find my family." The orange cat smiled and said, "I know where your family is, we are your family!"
The red cat was so happy and looked at the purple cat, the blue cat, the green cat, the orange cat, and the yellow cat, and knew she found her rainbow cat family.
